“ Remember that day when i feel down the stairs and you told me to watch my step, not just with stairs but with life. I still remember that...the best advice anyone has ever given me, and I'm so thankful for that grandma. I love you so much and i miss you...

Your loving granddaughter,
Najah

“ wow. its been almost 4 years come Aug. i miss you grandma going thru some things but I'm gonna make it, sometimes i just sit back wondering how would thing be if you were still with us.Jahlil having a baby girl in July and I'm having a child in October... crazy huh? ... : (... day's i think back and remember how you told me what to expect in this world and how to be careful but every sense you left i don't know what happened to us.. I'm sorry to say we've gotten worse. were no longer innocent . And I'm ashamed but its all going to work out . i know your watching . i can still see and I'm happy that you never forgotten us... i thank you dearly i love you with all my heart
